

Bob Ellinger's cremation 27th September 1996, died 23rd

[P. 6].

This is, to be sure, a sad day for many. Bob, a loving husband, dear father and father-in-law and doting grandfather to 10 grandchildren and good friend to many has rejoined his Maker whom he also loved very much. I want to suggest to you that it should also be a day of thanksgiving that Bob lived and was able to give so much in love, duty and devotion to so many people and causes.

Whatever situation Bob or somebody else would find himself in he would inevitably tell a joke and today's sanctification of Bob's transfiguration from body and soul to soul alone would not, I suggest to you, be complete without an appropriate joke. Two Jews were discussing why Jews suffered so much in this world. One said he did not know, but the other said: it is because God makes us suffer with persecution and pogroms in THIS world in order that we may have it good in the NEXT world. After a few moments reflection the first one starts laughing and the second one says: why are you laughing? And the first one says: it is because I keep thinking - what if we Jews have it bad in the NEXT world as well! There is no chance, however, of Bob not being in safe hands with God. His love and good deeds will be rewarded in more than good measure in the world where Bob now is.

[Sing Psalm 23].

[P. 15].

[P.20 in Hebrew and English].

A note was found on the body of an American Jewish soldier Colonel David Marcus who created the Israeli Army. This is what it said:

[Peter and Richard].

[Sing El mole rachamim]. Michel ben Haim

[P. 28. Kaddish] Let us recite the kaddish together.

[P. 29]. Into your hand ...
